FINANCIER BEKKEY HERE FROM JAPAN

To Lay Corner Stone
Of New Bank
Building

H. Bekkey, manager and director of the Yokohama Specie Bank at the Yokohama main office, who has been traveling around the world, arrived this morning from San Francisco and is registered at the Young Hotel. While here Mr. Bekkey will attend the ceremony and lay the corner-stone of the new Specie bank building, which is being erected mauka of the Police Department. Mr. Bekkey was interviewed this morning at the hotel and said as follows:

"I have just arrived this morning and am therefore unable to say much about the local affairs. I left Japan last October, making stops at Shanghai, Hongkong, Calcutta, Bombay, Rome, Venice, Hamburg, Brussels, Edinburgh, London, Berlin, Vienna, New York, Boston, Chicago, Niagara Falls, and many other cities of the United States, including San Francisco. My business was principally inspection of the branch offices of the Specie Bank. I will stop over here for a week, during which time I will familiarize myself with the conditions here."

"Are you going to lay the corner-stone of the new building here?" asked the reporter.

"If it is the custom here, I will do so," answered Bekkey. "I will have to see Mr. Akai about it. As yet I have not seen him."

"While away, did you meet any of the well-known financiers of the age?" asked the reporter again.

"I only met Mr. Harriman and Mr. Schiff in New York."

"What was the occasion of your meeting with them?"

"I met them because they are my old friends," answered Bekkey. "I met them by appointment."

"Is it a fact that you were trying to purchase Pacific liners from the American owners?" questioned the reporter.

"I am not a steamship man and have no intention to interfere with their business."

"How was the financial condition of Japan before you started out for a tour around the world?"

"It was all right. Of late, I do not know anything about it," responded Bekkey.

"Is it a fact that another branch of the Specie bank will be established at Hilo?"

"I don't think we will do that," said Bekkey. "The business is not large enough to warrant such an office. If you want to mention me in the Bulletin, please say that I am nothing but a man who looks after the affairs of the Yokohama Specie Bank. I am not a man of title nor of reputation. I am a simple man," concluded Bekkey.

Mr. Bekkey is one of the leaders of the Specie bank. He has been connected with that institution since 1889 and is, in fact, the managing director of the bank. He is well informed on financial affairs of the Japanese Government but says very little about it.

The Weekly Edition of the Evening Bulletin gives a complete summary of the news of the day.

Wild Seas Swept Over Hilonian

San Francisco, May 29.—The Matson navigation company's steamer Hilonian, Captain Peter Johnson, which arrived late Wednesday night from Honolulu, had a good excuse for being more than 30 hours late. If the Hilonian had not been a stout ship, well found and in good hands, steamers, passengers and crew would probably be at the bottom of the ocean, for the storm through which the steamer passed was one of the worst that the oldest seafarer aboard had ever seen. It did to the Hilonian more damage than the 12-inch shells did the next day to the monitor Florida.

Head winds were encountered all the way from Honolulu, but it was not until Tuesday morning that the north-west wind developed hurricane force and things began to happen on the Hilonian.

The wind gave a preliminary exhibition of its strength by converting the deck awning into ribbons and tearing the weather cloths from along the rail. As the wind increased in fury so did the waves gain in size, and by afternoon green seas were playing tag over the liner's bridge. The steel pipe covers were torn away like so much paper and at 5 o'clock it seemed as if the whole Pacific ocean was trying to climb aboard. Suddenly the sea lifted the skylights from their fastenings and water poured below, flooding all the staterooms and converting the saloon into a natatorium.

One passenger, a Mrs. True of Oakland, was so terrified by the noise of the bombardment of water against her stateroom that she fainted and was carried with great difficulty to the saloon.

All the passengers spent Tuesday night huddled together in the saloon, while on the bridge Captain Johnson and his officers fought the storm. So violently did the seas assault the ship that the officers were afraid that the hatches would be broken open. But the Hilonian weathered the storm. All hands were turned to Wednesday with buckets and mops drying out the flooded staterooms and everybody enjoyed some rest the last night at sea. The Hilonian's passengers included:

Mr. Blumshohn, Mrs. Blumshohn, M. Brach, Mrs. Brach, Mrs. E. Castle, Mrs. Will J. Cooper, Mrs. Charles Crane, J. R. Dazett, Captain Goodman, Mrs. Hodgson, Miss A. M. Moore, Mrs. D. McIntyre, Mrs. O'Neill, Gerald O'Neill, Charles Russell, Mrs. L. Ryder, Mrs. Saunders, Miss Saunders, Miss Mary Sexton, C. H. Smith, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Ed Towse and two children, Mrs. True and child, Miss True, Mrs. Taiton and two children, J. H. Woodmansee, Mrs. Woodmansee.

The regular monthly meeting of the Iolani Guild will be held tomorrow (Tuesday) afternoon in the Sunday school room of St. Andrew's Cathedral at 3 o'clock. A full attendance of the members is desired, as it will be the last meeting before the fair and polo lunch proposed to be given on the 20th inst.
